SIX® Celebrates 20 Years of Reshaping the Sound of Entertainment in Branson

Branson, MO — In 2026, SIX® celebrates 20 years on the Branson stage with an anniversary season at Pepsi Legends Theater — marking two decades of brotherhood, innovation and fully live performance that helped reshape the sound of Branson entertainment.

Built entirely on vocal artistry, SIX delivers a show without instruments, backing tracks, or auto-tune. Just SIX brothers, SIX microphones, and a sound audiences instantly recognize as something different, modern, fearless, and unmistakably real.

What began as necessity became innovation. Without the means for instruments, the brothers built their own shaping rhythm, melody, and texture using nothing but human voices. That creative constraint didn't limit them. It defined them.

"We're incredibly grateful to the Branson community and the audiences who've been part of our journey," said Lynn Knudsen, CEO and founding member of SIX. "This season marks 20 years on the Branson stage — shaped by a lifetime of singing together and guided by the music audiences have connected with most. Our priority has always been performing for the people in the seats, and this anniversary reflects that."

As the longest-running vocal group still performing with original members, SIX remains fully live — show after show. Their journey spans more than 50 years of singing together. Emerging alongside the rise of modern a cappella in the 1990s, SIX helped shape a style rooted in pure vocal performance — a foundation that later generations of vocal groups would build upon. Yet SIX has never chased trends or relied on production shortcuts, remaining committed to a sound defined by authenticity rather than technology.

Audiences don't just hear the music — they experience it. Harmonies feel physical. Rhythm feels alive. The absence of instruments disappears as imagination fills them in, creating a full-band experience powered entirely by human connection.

"Today's audiences are craving something human," said Suzanne Wonderley-Knudsen, Director of Marketing for SIX. "When you see SIX, you're watching trust in action — SIX brothers balancing live harmony in real time, every show. That risk is what makes it electric."

A Milestone Season

The 20th anniversary season celebrates two decades in Branson built on brotherhood, innovation, and an unwavering commitment to live, unfiltered sound. No shortcuts. No safety nets. Just authenticity — the philosophy that continues to set SIX apart on the Branson strip and beyond.

Beginning March 2, 2026, SIX performs at Pepsi Legends Theater in Branson, MO.
